After three national championships as a head coach, two as a player, and one as an assistant coach, Kim Mulkey is home.

Mulkey, the most successful player-turned-coach in college basketball history, has been named head coach of the LSU women's basketball team, Director of Athletics Scott Woodward announced on Sunday, April 25, 2021.

A native of Tickfaw, La., Mulkey comes to Baton Rouge as the most accomplished head coaching hire in LSU history. She returns to Louisiana as a six-time national champion and nine-time Hall of Famer who is set for induction into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in May.

Mulkey, who also won an Olympic Gold Medal in 1984, is the only person in college basketball history – men's or women's – to win national championships as a head coach, assistant coach and a player. She's one of just three coaches (Bobby Knight and Dean Smith) in college basketball history to win national titles as a player and a coach.

In taking over for the Tigers, Mulkey becomes the eighth head coach in LSU women's basketball history. Mulkey, who became the fastest coach in Division I history to reach 600 wins (needing only 700 games) in 2020, brings an overall head coaching mark of 632-104 to LSU. Her 600 wins in 700 games bettered the previous mark held by Adolph Rupp of Kentucky, who needed 704 games.

In 21 years as the head coach at Baylor, Mulkey led the Lady Bears to four Final Fours, winning three national titles. Her teams reached the Elite Eight six times and the Sweet 16 on five other occasions. In all, she led Baylor to an NCAA Tournament appearance 19 times in 20 years. She led Baylor to the Women's NIT championship game in her third year in Waco.

In conference play, Mulkey guided Baylor to a combined 23 Big 12 regular-season and tournament titles.

A member of the 2020 Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame Class, Mulkey built Baylor into a national power, as they became just the third program in NCAA history to have at least three national titles to its credit when the Lady Bears beat Notre Dame, 82-81, on April 7, 2019. Mulkey's other national championships at Baylor came in 2005 and 2012. Baylor's NCAA title in 2005 was the first for a women's sport in school history, and in 2012, she directed her team to the first 40-0 mark in NCAA history, capped off by a victory over Notre Dame in the championship game.

Mulkey has been named National Coach of the Year eight times from various entities, and she was selected as the Big 12 Coach of the Year eight times. She's taken home the New York Athletic Club's Winged Foot Award after each national championship as a head coach.

Individually, Mulkey has developed and produced some of the top players in women's basketball history. At Baylor, she coached 19 different All-Americans to 85 honors by various entities, and eight players under her watch earned first-team All-America status by either the Associated Press, USBWA, WBCA or John Wooden selections.

Hall of Famer Sue Gunter

40 SEASONS • 708 WINS • BASKETBALL HALL OF FAMER

The late Sue Gunter, a 2005 inductee into the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame, will always be remembered as not only one of the greatest coaches in women's basketball history, but also as a pioneer in the game. Gunter passed away on Aug. 4, 2005.

Gunter, who became the third women's coach in collegiate history to reach 700 career victories with a win over Arkansas on Feb. 12, 2004, was with women's basketball on the collegiate level every step of the way and saw the sport evolve from a novelty back in the early 1960s to present day, where the Final Four is sold out years in advance and games are shown nightly on national television.

Gunter was inducted into five Halls of Fame over her career, starting with the Women's Basketball Hall of Fame in June 2000 and the crown jewel in the basketball world, the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame in 2005. The accolades continued with induction into the Mississippi Sports Hall of Fame in 2003, the Louisiana Sports Hall of Fame in 2005, and the LSU Sports Hall of Fame in 2010 (posthumously). She completed her career among the leaders in several NCAA coaching categories: seasons coached (No. 1 - 40); games coached (No. 3 - 1,016); wins (No. 3 - 708); and 20-win seasons (No. 4 - 22).

Gunter's influence was a catalyst behind the growth of the game and things were no different in Baton Rouge as the Tigers continue to play before school-record crowds and media attention is at an all-time high. In Gunter's 22-year tenure at LSU, her list of accomplishments are long and impressive – 14 NCAA Tournament appearances, one trip to the Final Four, four NCAA Elite Eight appearances, eight NCAA Sweet 16 appearances, two SEC Tournament titles, a Women's NIT title, and a handful of Coach of the Year awards.

SUE GUNTER – THE COACH

Sue Gunter brought the LSU women's basketball program back to national prominence. After a three-year hiatus in the mid-1990's that saw the Tigers suffer through the school's first-ever losing seasons, LSU returned to the post-season, and in Gunter's final year as head coach in 2003-04, advanced to the program's first NCAA Final Four.

To realize just how far the Tigers have come, one has to go back to the 1994-95 season, the worst year in school history as LSU posted a 7-20 overall mark. Strangely enough, it was the 1994-95 season that proved to be the turning point for the Tigers as Gunter turned up her recruiting magic and promptly signed the best class in school history. That class, which included future All-SEC selections in Elaine Powell, Pietra Gay and Toni Gross, won 46 games over two years and resurrected the LSU women's basketball program. The Tigers won an average of 22.5 games per season under Gunter since the 1994-95 campaign, including a then-school record 30 wins in 2002-03.

Her final season was undoubtedly one of Gunter's finest on the court, despite not being on the bench for over half the season due to illness. The Tigers won 27 games, finished second in the SEC with a 10-4 mark, received a No. 4 seed in the NCAA Tournament's West Region and advanced past Austin Peay, Maryland, No. 1 seed Texas and Georgia to reach the program's first Final Four right down the road in New Orleans. Gunter coached in her 1,000 game on Jan. 25, 2004 and recorded her 700th career victory later in the season against Arkansas. Sophomore Seimone Augustus earned Kodak All-American honors and was the Louisiana Player of the Year.

Gunter completed her career as the third winningest women's basketball coach in history with an overall record of 708-308, which included coaching stints at Middle Tennessee, Stephen F. Austin and LSU. Gunter's LSU record was 442-221, which makes her the winningest coach in school history.

Under the direction of Gunter, the Tigers played in 14 NCAA Tournaments, one National Women's Invitational Tournament and two WNIT events. Gunter led LSU to one Final Four in 2004, and to the Elite Eight in 1986, 2000 and 2003, while leading the Tigers to a championship at the National Women's Invitational Tournament in 1985. In addition, Gunter directed LSU to 14 20-plus-win seasons, including one 30-win season.

Prior to her arrival in Baton Rouge, Gunter had a very successful coaching stint at Stephen F. Austin in Nacogdoches, Texas. While at SFA, Gunter built that program into a national powerhouse as she led the LadyJacks to a 266-87 mark in 12 years as head coach. In addition, she led Stephen F. Austin to four top 10 national rankings, which included No. 5 final rankings in 1979 and 1980. While at Stephen F. Austin, Gunter coached four sports - women's basketball, softball, tennis and track. Her basketball teams went to five Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (AIAW) playoffs, won four state titles and earned a regional crown.

After 16 seasons at SFA, she relinquished the reigns and moved into the position of Director of Women's Athletics where she served two years before returning to the coaching ranks at LSU.

Gunter began her coaching career at Middle Tennessee State where she led the Blue Raiders to undefeated seasons in both of her years there.

WHAT THEY SAID ABOUT COACH GUNTER

"Sue Gunter was a wonderful friend, an exceptional person and an incredibly talented basketball coach. Sue was definitely one of the pioneers of women's collegiate basketball. She was one of my mentors. I learned so much from Sue about the X's and O's of the game of basketball. But more importantly, she taught me about the delicate balance of coaching and teaching the game and the value of great player-coach relationships. She made playing basketball fun due to her ability to connect with her players. Personally, I am going to miss her tremendously and I know the game is going to miss her."

- Pat Summitt
FORMER TENNESSEE HEAD COACH (1974-2012)

"I loved her. There was always a lot of respect, not just as a coach, but in life. She was an unbelievable friend and sister. I will always cherish what we had. And she was a hell of a coach."

- Ann Meyers Drysdale
MEMBER OF 1976 USA BASKETBALL TEAM/VP, PHOENIX MERCURY

"When I got the call from my agent and he told me that LSU was interested in me, the first thing I thought about was Sue Gunter. She came to mind right off the bat. Having played in the SEC and having played against those old Sue Gunter teams back in the 90s, I was just moved because she has meant so much to a lot of us, our career, and our choices to go into college coaching because of what she has done for women's basketball."

- Nikki Fargas
LSU HEAD COACH FROM HER INTRODUCTORY PRESS CONFERENCE
APRIL 4, 2011

"A person you absolutely loved. There was not a person I respected more than Sue Gunter. Not only did we lose a great coach, but we lost an even better person."

- Van Chancellor
FORMER LSU HEAD COACH (2007-11)

"When you look at Sue's record and all the accomplishments throughout her career, it's easy to say that we have lost a great coach. But, in reality we have lost a better person."

- Jim Foster
FORMER VANDERBILT HEAD COACH (1991-2002)

"A lot of the things you see today in the game of women's basketball are due to a large price earlier paid by people such as Sue Gunter. I had the utmost respect for her as a person and as a coach. She will really be missed in our game. Her achievements and legacy will far exceed her wins and losses, even though they were very impressive in her case."

- Marsha Sharp
FORMER TEXAS TECH HEAD COACH (1982-2006)

"Personally I felt like I lost my best friend. Basketball lost one of its heroes. She is legendary. The things that she has done and the way she did them are just remarkable."

- Andy Landers
FORMER GEORGIA HEAD COACH (1979-2015)

"Just sadness ... that was my first thought. At the same time it made me relive the times I spent with Sue Gunter on the recruiting trail. Those were good times. The coaching profession has lost a great one today. No question she is one of the pioneers. She's a legend in the women's game."

- Kim Mulkey
LSU HEAD COACH (2021-PRESENT)

"I am very saddened today. Sue's passing is a great loss for our sport and a personal loss of a close friend. My thoughts are with Sue's family and those at LSU at this sad time."

- Jody Conradt
FORMER TEXAS HEAD COACH (1976-2007)

"To me, the first thing that comes to mind is character. That's what she instilled in us. It was not just always about basketball. It was about us being individual women in the world today. Basketball was definitely a luxury, so I was honored to have the opportunity to play for her, get to know her, and spend as much time as possible with her."

- Temeka Johnson
LSU POINT GUARD, 2002-05

"It was about two things when we stepped out on the floor - winning and playing for our coach. We loved and respected her to the highest level. Even a few years after her death and today, if something wonderful happens in my life, she is one of the first people who come to mind that I would love to talk to. A part of her continues to live in me."

- Cornelia Gayden
LSU GUARD, 1992-95

"For her to be inducted into the LSU (Athletic) Hall of Fame, it is a tremendous way to maintain her legacy and educate more people today on her accomplishments of the past. If Coach Gunter were here today, I think she would be proud of making it to the Hall of Fame but more so because she would look at it as a program honor."

- Bob Starkey

"Dream big, work hard."

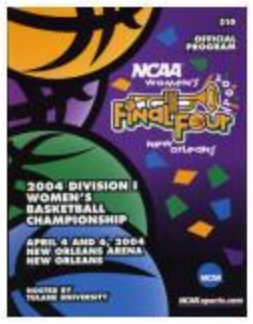
NCAA Final Four Recaps



2004

With head coach Sue Gunter sitting out the last half of the season due to illness, acting head coach Pokey Chatman led the Tigers to the program's first trip to the NCAA Final Four and ironically enough, it was just down to the road in New Orleans.

The Tigers' road to the Final Four began at home in the Pete Maravich Assembly Center with victories over Austin Peay in the first round and Maryland in the second round. An 83-66 win over Austin Peay was sparked by a 21-point performance by All-American Seimone Augustus, while the Baton Rouge native poured in 26 in the 76-61 win over Maryland two nights later.

The fourth-seeded Tigers now had a date with top seeded Texas in the West Regional semifinal in Seattle, Wash. LSU was looking for revenge from the year before when Texas had knocked off the top-seeded Tigers in the Regional Final. Revenge is just what LSU got with a 71-55 victory over the Longhorns led by Augustus' career-high 29 points. SEC foe Georgia would be the opponent in the Regional Final.

It would prove to be one of best NCAA Tournament games in history with the lead going back and forth until Georgia took a seven point lead with six minutes to play. LSU did not falter, chipping away at the lead using an 8-1 run in the final four minutes to take the lead and hold it for a 62-60 victory and the program's first trip to the NCAA Final Four.

Augustus matched her career-high with 29 points, including a late free throw, while Temeka Johnson added 19 points, including a 15-foot jumper that gave the Tigers the lead for good.

Augustus was named the West Regional Most Outstanding Player and Johnson joined her on the West Regional All-Tournament team.

LSU had a date with rival and SEC foe Tennessee in the national semifinal game in the New Orleans Arena, just 70 miles from the Baton Rouge campus.

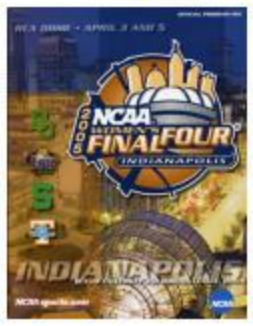
LSU ended the season with a 27-8 overall record and a run to the Final Four, the school's first.

2005



After not advancing to the NCAA Final Four in the history of the program, the LSU Tigers made it two straight trips with a visit in 2005.

First year head coach Pokey Chatman, who had guided LSU to the Final Four in her hometown of New Orleans as acting head coach in 2004, led the Tigers back to the promise land.

Chatman and the Tigers enjoyed one of the best seasons in school history, posting 33-3 overall record and claiming the program's first Southeastern Conference regular season title with a perfect 14-0 mark.

The first stop for the Tigers was Knoxville, Tenn., where No. 16 Stetson awaited. LSU took care of business in convincing fashion, posting a 70-36 victory. National Player of the Year Seimone Augustus scored 14 points, while National Point Guard of the Year Temeka Johnson had 15 points and seven assists.

No. 9 seed Arizona was the next victim as LSU advanced to the Sweet 16. The Tigers continued its domination on defense in a 76-43 victory. For the second straight game the opposition shot below 30.0 percent from the floor.

Augustus led the way with 18 points and eight rebounds, while Johnson added 14 points and 10 rebounds.

Upset-minded Liberty, the No. 13 seed, awaited LSU in Chattanooga for the Regional Semifinal. Defense again dominated the story line as the Tigers defeated the Flames 90-48. Augustus and Scholanda Hoston had 22 points, while Johnson added 12 points and 15 assists.

The Duke Blue Devils, the No. 2 seed, now stood between LSU and a return trip to the Final Four.

Duke jumped out to an early lead and led for all but a few seconds of the first half until LSU battled back to tie the score at 30-30 just before halftime.

The Tigers took control in the second half and held on for a 59-49 victory, earning them a trip to Indianapolis and a date with Baylor.

The RCA Dome was the site of the battle between the Lady Bears and the Tigers in the National Semifinal. LSU jumped out to an early 15-point lead only to have Baylor chip back and eventually tie the score 28-28 at the break.

Unlike the Regional Final victory over Duke, this time Baylor, the eventual national champions, took control in the second half and pulled away with a 68-57 victory.

After reaching the Final Four in 2004 and 2005, LSU would settle for nothing less than a return trip to the grandest spectacle in women's basketball.

Second-year head coach Pokey Chatman guided the Tigers to a 31-4 overall record, including the program's second-straight Southeastern Conference regular season title with a 13-1 mark.

LSU took its momentum from the regular season and rode it to a No. 1 seed in the NCAA Tournament for the second-straight season and the third time in four years. The Tigers were placed in the San Antonio Region and made the first stop in Nashville, Tenn., for the first- and second-round games.

No. 16 seed Florida Atlantic awaited LSU at Vanderbilt's Memorial Gymnasium. The Tigers used a 20-0 run midway through the first half and pulled away with a 72-48 victory to advance to the second round to face No. 9 seed Washington.

Washington was, in fact, playing so well that they led LSU, 26-23, at the end of the first half. The lead would not last long as the Tigers shot out on a 12-2 run to open the half and never looked back to earn a 72-49 victory and a trip to the Sweet 16 in San Antonio.

Fourth-seeded DePaul was next for LSU. The Blue Demons gave it a good fight in the opening 20 minutes and found themselves deadlocked at 31-31 with the Tigers at the break. Another Tigers' run to open the second half and LSU pulled way from DePaul for a 66-56 victory.

No. 3 seed Stanford upset second-seeded Oklahoma in the other regional semifinal to set up an LSU-Stanford showdown for the right to advance to Boston.

The Cardinal took a 55-54 lead with four minutes left in the game before LSU posted six straight points to hold a 60-55 advantage with 2:07 remaining.

Just over a minute later, Stanford's Candice Wiggins nailed a three-pointer to cut the lead to 60-59, but Seimone Augustus hit a couple of free throws and drew a charging foul on the defensive end to seal a 62-59 victory for LSU.

Augustus earned Regional Most Outstanding Player honors after posting 18 points against DePaul and 26 in the win over Stanford.

In Boston, Duke, the No. 1 seed from the Bridgeport Region, controlled the game from the start and handed LSU a 64-45 loss in the National Semifinal game in the TD Banknorth Garden.

Acting head coach Bob Starkey was faced with the daunting task of guiding the LSU Tigers into the 2007 NCAA Tournament after closing out the regular season with three losses in the final five games, but guide he did.

After a nice run in the Southeastern Conference Tournament and a loss to Vanderbilt in the title game, LSU received a No. 3 seed in the NCAA Tournament and were placed in the Fresno Regional

The road to Cleveland's Quicken Loans Arena would begin in Austin, Texas at the University of Texas' Erwin Center. LSU made quick work of the Bulldogs with a 77-39 victory. Quianna Chaney and RaShonta LeBlanc carried LSU with 15 points each and combined to hit nine three-pointers in the game.

Up next was upset-minded West Virginia, the No. 11 seed. LSU had to rally from 11 points down in the final 12 minutes of play to secure a 49-43 victory. Fowles led the way with 21 points and 13 rebounds, while Chaney added 11 points.

The come-from-behind victory over WVU advanced LSU into the Sweet 16 and a trip to Fresno, Calif., and a date with No. 10 seed Florida State at Fresno State's Save Mart Center.

The Tigers had little trouble with Florida State in a 55-43 victory. LSU led the entire game and held a 27-18 lead at halftime before breaking it open with a 10-0 to open the second half. Chaney led LSU with 22 points and Fowles added 20 points and nine rebounds.

In the Elite Eight, The Tigers would face top-seeded Connecticut with a chance to avenge an earlier one-point loss at home.

LSU did just that and did it in convincing fashion with a 73-50 win over the Huskies in the Fresno Regional Final.

Fowles continued her dominance in the tournament with 23 points, 15 rebounds and six blocked shot on her way to being named Regional Most Outstanding Player. Allison Hightower and Ashley Thomas added 12 points each and White posted 11 points in the victory.

A disappointing outing versus Greensboro Regional Champion Rutgers in the national semifinal in Cleveland ended LSU's season, but the Tigers could not hang their heads after a 30-8 season, the program's third straight 30-win season.

LSU joined Connecticut as the only team in NCAA women's basketball history to advance to five straight Final Fours as first-year LSU head coach Van Chancellor led the Tigers to a 31-6 overall record and a perfect 14-0 Southeastern Conference mark.

Going into the season, the squad knew the Pete Maravich Assembly Center would be a host site for the NCAA First and Second Rounds. LSU earned a No. 2 seed in the New Orleans Regional and awaited Jackson State in the first round from the friendly confines of the Maravich Center. What resulted was one of the most dominating performances in school history and a 66-32 victory over the 15th seed. Sylvia Fowles led all scorers with 16 points, and Jackson State's 32 total points were the fewest allowed by LSU in its NCAA Tournament history.

Two days later, the Tigers tangled with a ranked Marist team, the No. 7 seed. The Red Foxes were no match for home standing LSU, who snapped Marist's 22-game winning streak with a 68-49 win. Fowles became the SEC's all-time leading rebounder with 13 boards while adding 19 points. LSU's eight seniors also received a standing ovation in their final home game.

In the Sweet 16, another home atmosphere awaited at the New Orleans Arena as the Tigers used a 15-0 run to top third-seeded Oklahoma State, 67-52. Erica White scored a team-high 18 points on 5-of-11 shooting.

All that stood between LSU and a fifth straight Final Four appearance was a battle with top-seeded and No. 1-ranked North Carolina. Fowles scored 21 points and grabbed 12 rebounds to lead her senior class to victory, 56-50. The senior earned New Orleans Regional Most Outstanding Player honors.

Guard RaShonta LeBlanc hit the most important shot of the game, a three pointer from the right wing with 4:30 to play that put LSU ahead by seven, 44-37, with 4:30 left.

In Tampa at the NCAA Final Four, LSU suffered a heartbreaking loss to Tennessee, 47-46. UT's Alexis Hornbuckle rebounded a missed shot and dropped in a layup with 0.7 seconds left to play to bail the Lady Vols out after LSU's Erica White hit two free throws with seven seconds to play. Fowles closed a brilliant career with 24 points, 20 rebounds and five blocked shots.

THE ONLY LSU WOMEN'S TEAM TO REACH THE NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP GAME OF A POSTSEASON TOURNAMENT

With one of the most dominating forward-center combinations in LSU women's basketball history in Australians Julie Gross and Maree Jackson, the Tigers enjoyed one of their finest seasons in 1976-77.

The Tigers, behind the play of Gross and Jackson, started the season off slow, but ended its regular-season with a 21-5 mark.

The Tigers then headed to the AIAW State Tournament in Ruston. LSU easily handled New Orleans in the first round, winning 85-58, followed by a 73-51 victory over Southern. Louisiana Tech stopped LSU in the semifinals as the Techsters posted a 101-88 win over LSU. The Tigers then fell to Northwestern State, 87-82, but the Tigers still managed to finish in second place at the state tournament.

By virtue of its second place finish at the state tournament, LSU advanced to the AIAW Regional Tournament in Monroe.

At the regional tournament, the Tigers got on a roll as they whipped Texas, 95-67, in the first round followed by a 76-73 win over a Sue Gunter-coached Stephen F. Austin team in the semifinals. LSU beat Baylor, 92-76, in the championship game to advance to the AIAW National Tournament in Minneapolis, Minn.

At the AIAW National Tournament, the Tigers drew Western Washington in the first round and had little trouble as the Tigers, behind 40 points from Maree Jackson, raced out to 49-26 halftime lead and never looked back in their 91-53 win. Next up for the Tigers was Baylor, a team that LSU had already beat twice during the season, which included a victory over the Bears in the regional finals.

LSU was once again victorious over Baylor as the Tigers got 35 points and 26 rebounds from Maree Jackson and advanced with a 71-64 win.

The Tigers then moved into the semifinal round against Immaculata, a powerhouse in women's basketball at the time. Immaculata was ranked No. 2 in the nation and was considered a huge favorite in the contest with the Tigers.

The Tigers upset Immaculata, 74-68, despite the fact that Jackson played after having root canal surgery and Brenda McGuffee played with a severely sprained ankle. In addition, Jackson and McGuffee played the final 10 minutes of the contest with four fouls. Jackson finished with 29 points and 19 rebounds, while Gross had 23 points and 11 boards.

It was on to the national championship game for LSU as the 11th-ranked Tigers would face top-ranked Delta State for the title.

Delta State scored the first six points of the contest and the Delta Devils quickly built a nine point advantage, 13-4, on a jumper by Debbie Brock at the 15:14 mark. LSU could get no closer than seven points the rest of the way as Lady Tiger All-American Jackson picked up her third foul with 5:54 to play in the first half. Delta State led 34-25 at intermission.

In the second half, Delta State never let the Tigers back in the contest as the Delta Devils held Jackson to a career-low six points in posting a 68-55 victory. Lucy Harris, the best women's player in the country at the time, led Delta State with 23 points and 16 rebounds.

The Tigers finished the year with an overall record of 29-8 and ranked No. 11 in the nation. That team still holds the distinction of being the only Lady Tiger team ever to reach the national championship game of a post-season tournament.

Without its spirited leader in Jeanne Kenney, who sustained an injury, LSU – with a roster of seven players – knocked off No. 8 Penn State 71-66 before a raucous crowd in the Maravich Center to reach the Sweet 16 for the first time since 2008. The Tigers saw their season come to an end in the Spokane regional semifinal with a 73-63 loss to eventual Final Four participant California.

SEC Champions

In 2007-08, LSU claimed the program's third outright Southeastern Conference regular season title and did so with a perfect 14-0 league record. The unblemished run through the SEC schedule was the second time in school history the Tigers had achieved the feat and the second time in four seasons.

LSU's second league title in three years began on the road with a tough challenge against No. 20/18 Arkansas, but the Tigers quickly put the Lady Razorbacks away with a 76-54 win. Three days later, LSU opened its home league slate with a 62-51 victory over Vanderbilt followed by a decisive blowout of Mississippi State at home, 84-31. The 53-point win broke the largest margin of victory by the Tigers over an SEC opponent in school history.

LSU then took to the road for two crucial games and both went in favor of the Tigers. Following a 79-59 win at No. 25/22 Auburn, LSU ran its SEC record to 5-0 with a 72-46 blowout of Kentucky at Rupp Arena for the program's 700th victory. For 283 consecutive minutes, the Tigers had not trailed until South Carolina took an early lead on LSU on Jan. 31. That 6-4 deficit proved to be short-lived as the Tigers closed the month of January with a 67-37 win to run their record to 6-0.

Two more road wins followed, including a decisive 85-71 win at Florida before a hostile crowd at the Stephen C. O'Connell Center. LSU faced its toughest test to date when the Tigers pulled out a 63-57 road win at No. 24/21 Georgia on Feb. 10.

With its record at 9-0, LSU traveled to Knoxville for a showdown with No. 1 Tennessee and what resulted was one of the most thrilling victories in school history.

Down 21-2 eight minutes into the game, No. 7 LSU outscored Tennessee, 76-41, the rest of the game to stun the top-ranked Lady Vols, 78-62. Head coach Van Chancellor then defeated his former Ole Miss team, 78-48, and the Tigers held on for a 52-48 home win to sweep Kentucky on the season series. LSU closed its regular season home schedule by beating Arkansas, 83-46, and the Tigers completed a magical run through the conference schedule with a 69-49 win at Mississippi State to punctuate a 14-0 record.

2004-05 SEC CHAMPIONS

In 2004-05 the Tigers made history, not only by winning the program's first Southeastern Conference title, but by doing it in convincing fashion.

The Tigers completed the SEC schedule unblemished, posting a 14-0 record.

LSU began the conference season with a home game against No. 17 Georgia on national television. The Tigers, ranked No. 1 at the time, handed the Lady Bulldogs a 76-52 loss and took that momentum into Gainesville, Fla., for a date with the Lady Gators.

The Tigers rolled past Florida, 64-47, and then returned home to host both Alabama and Arkansas. LSU handed Alabama a 76-51 loss and defeated Arkansas, 91-45, in impressive fashion.

A trip to Nashville to face Vanderbilt in Memorial Coliseum was next. The Tigers had not had much success when facing the Commodores on their home floor, but this time LSU prevailed, 79-68, over 17th-ranked Vanderbilt.

The end of January had the Tigers return to Baton Rouge to host pesky Auburn. A hard fought 57-52 victory boosted LSU to a 6-0 league mark with eight games left.

A road swing through Mississippi saw the Tigers hand Ole Miss a 82-58 loss and Mississippi State a 67-40 loss.

Those two wins meant a showdown in the Pete Maravich Center between top-ranked LSU at 8-0 in the league and fifth-ranked Tennessee, also with a perfect 8-0 league mark.

The Tigers took care of business in front of the largest home crowd in LSU women's basketball history, defeating the Lady Vols 68-58 on national television.

A 66-36 victory at South Carolina and an 81-58 home victory over Kentucky followed and LSU had 11 league wins, the most in the program's history.

The final three games awaited, including trips to Auburn and Arkansas.

Once again, the Auburn Tigers proved pesky, but LSU prevailed 62-57.

Things were much easier in Fayetteville as LSU rolled to a 90-64 win, clinching at least a share of the league crown for the Tigers.

LSU returned home with a chance to claim the program's first outright league title and a perfect 14-0 record.

Florida stood in the way, but not for long. In front of a crowd of over 10,000 fans, LSU defeated the Lady Gators, 76-52, and the first SEC Champions banner was dropped from the rafters of the PMAC.

2005-06 SEC CHAMPIONS

LSU backed up its 2004-05 Southeastern Conference regular season championship, the first in the program's history, with a successful defense, earning a second-straight league title with a 13-1 record in 2005-06.

The Tigers tipped conference play off early with a 66-36 victory at Kentucky on Dec. 18. The title defense was underway.

After a few more non-conference games, including wins at home over Michigan State and South Florida, LSU returned to league play at Auburn.

Visiting the Plains is never an easy thing to do, but the Tigers defeated the Tigers 65-38 to begin conference play with a 2-0 mark.

Home wins over South Carolina and Alabama preceded a thrilling, 65-64, victory in Athens against No. 13 Georgia. That win put LSU in first place with a 5-0 record.

The Tigers returned home to face No. 22 Vanderbilt in the PMAC and a 75-53 victory over the Commodores coupled with a Tennessee loss at Kentucky the same night gave LSU a one-game lead atop the league standings over the Lady Vols.

LSU won at Arkansas and at home against Ole Miss that set up a showdown in Knoxville with Tennessee.

The Tigers pulled off an exciting 72-69 win over the fifth-ranked Lady Vols to take a two-game lead with a 9-0 mark. The win was LSU's first over Tennessee in Knoxville.

Georgia invaded Baton Rouge with revenge on their minds, but LSU upended the Lady Dawgs, 68-61, to move to 10-0 and extend the Tigers' conference win streak to 24 straight games.

LSU rolled into Gainesville in first place in the conference with a two-game lead, but Florida brought the Tigers back into a title race with a 79-78 upset win in overtime.

LSU held a slim one-game lead over Tennessee with three games to play.

A home victory over Arkansas and a win at Alabama assured LSU of at least a tie for the title and earned the Tigers the top seed for the upcoming SEC Tournament, but the program wanted its second-straight outright title.

The senior trio did not disappoint, leading LSU to a 62-48 victory and the Tigers' second straight SEC regular season championship.

1991 SEC TOURNAMENT CHAMPIONS

LSU claimed its first Tournament title in 1991 as the Tigers had one of the most impressive runs in conference tournament history.

Entering the tournament as the No. 4 seed, the Tigers had a first round bye and then beat Kentucky, 96-76, in the second round.

The Tigers, who were ranked No. 12 in the nation, then upset fourth-ranked Georgia, 83-74, in the semifinals.

In the title game, point guard Pokey Chatman scored 30 points, including 16 straight at one point, as the Tigers knocked off third-ranked Tennessee, 80-75.

Chatman was named most valuable player of the tournament, while Sheila Johnson and Annette Jackson-Lowery were named to the all-tournament team.

2003 SEC TOURNAMENT CHAMPIONS

The LSU's run through the Southeastern Conference Tournament was something special in 2003. It had been 12 years since LSU had last won a tournament title and the Tigers were hungry for the crown.

Standing in the way of the second seeded and sixth-ranked Tigers in the opening game were the No. 23 Arkansas Lady Razorbacks, a team that had handed LSU its first defeat of the season in Fayetteville earlier during the season.

It would prove to be the closest margin of victory in LSU's run to the title. LSU defeated Arkansas 78-72 thanks to some clutch free throw shooting down the stretch, including Seimone Augustus' two free throws with 19 seconds to play to give the freshman her 21st and 22nd points of the game and LSU a four-point lead.

Four of the five starters for LSU scored in double figures in the opening round victory over Arkansas. In addition to Augustus, Temeka Johnson added 15 points, while Doneeka Hodges and Aiysha Smith both hit for 11 points.

15th-ranked Vanderbilt was the next item on the menu for the Tigers. The Commodores were also a team that had defeated LSU during the regular season. In fact, the defending SEC Tournament champions had knocked off LSU just the week before in Nashville and were playing with a lot of confidence heading into the semifinals of the SEC Tournament.

Vandy had so much confidence in themselves they led by as many as nine in the first half and took a 39-35 lead into the locker room at halftime after shooting 51.7 percent from the floor in the opening 20 minutes of play. LSU did not take its first lead of the game until Seimone Augustus hit a pair of free throws with 17 minutes to play to give the Tigers a 44-43 advantage. The lead went back and forth for most of the second half until LSU closed the game with a 12-2 run in the final four minutes to advance to their second-straight SEC Tournament title game.

Augustus took over the game during the final run, scoring 14 of her 20 points in the final four minutes of play. Aiysha Smith led LSU with 21 points, while Temeka Johnson added 12 points and Augustus had nine rebounds to go along with her point total.

The stage was set for the SEC title game, sixth-ranked LSU vs. No. 3 Tennessee for the SEC Championship. It marked a rematch of the 68-65 Lady Vol victory during the regular season in Baton Rouge.

The Tigers took control of the game early, jumping out to a 7-0 lead while taking a 42-25 lead at the break. Tennessee managed to trim the margin down to 13 with 15 minutes to play before the Tigers took the largest lead of the game at 18 with 10 minutes left.

Temeka Johnson took home MVP honors after scoring a career-high 24 points in the victory. She added nine rebounds and seven assists in the win. Aiysha Smith added 18 points, while Seimone Augustus had 12 points and eight rebounds on her way to an all-tournament team selection.

LSU avenged all three of its regular season losses with three wins over three top 25 teams in three days to win the 2003 SEC Tournament Championship.

Final Four LEGACY

LSU Tiger Basketball and Final Fours are synonymous. LSU has a proud tradition of Women's Final Four teams that began a historic streak in 2004. From Hall of Famer Sue Gunter to the players who have donned an LSU jersey since that season, Women's Final Four basketball at LSU is a legacy that carries on and the pinnacle to which every player aspires to reach.

The Drive for Five ended in Tampa as first-year LSU head coach Van Chancellor reached the Women's Final Four. LSU became only the second program in NCAA Division I history to advance to five-straight Women's Final Fours, doing so behind the play of All-American and SEC Player of the Year Sylvia Fowles. The Tigers edged No. 2 North Carolina in the New Orleans Regional Final.

Final Four Legacy

Under associate head coach Bob Starkey, LSU overcame a late season adversity and hoisted a fourth Women's Final Four trophy by winning the Fresno Regional over top-seeded Connecticut. State Farm All-American Sylvia Fowles shattered the LSU record books for blocked shots and rebounds.

2006

Seimone Augustus leaves a magnificent legacy as the most decorated player in school history. The 2006 National Player of the Year guided the Tigers to a third-straight Women's Final Four with a 31-4 record, another Southeastern Conference championship and a victory over Stanford in the regional final. The trip to Boston culminated a year of record-breaking attendances for LSU.

2005

33-3 overall. 27-1 regular season. 14-0 perfect SEC regular season. It was unchartered territory for an LSU program in the national spotlight. In one of the most dominating seasons in school history, the Tigers made it back-to-back Women's Final Four appearances after topping Duke in the regional final. Seimone Augustus became the school's first National Player of the Year.

2004

When LSU began its run in the 2004 NCAA Tournament, it was the culmination of a season of destiny that ended in New Orleans. Legendary coach Sue Gunter had to miss the final 20 games due to illness, but the Tigers fought on. LSU reached the program's first Women's Final Four behind sophomore All-American Seimone Augustus and point guard Temeka Johnson as the Tigers defeated Georgia in the regional final.

LSU WOMEN'S BASKETBALL TIMELINE

LSU is entering its 46th season of women's basketball in 2020-21. The Tigers first played basketball as a varsity sport in 1975-76 and since that inaugural season, LSU has posted 39 winning seasons, played in 26 NCAA Tournaments, advanced to the AIAW National Championship game in 1977 and the NCAA Final Four in 2004, 2005, 2006, 2007 and 2008.

THE COACHES

LSU women's basketball has featured illustrious Hall of Fame coaches since its inception. Jinks Coleman coached the Tigers for three and a half years before stepping down midway through the 1978-79 season. In three-plus years, Coleman guided LSU to a 91-32 overall mark. Her crowning moment with LSU came during the 1976-77 season as she led the Tigers to the AIAW National Championship game. LSU fell to top-ranked Delta State, but that 1977 team remains the only squad in school history to play for a national title. Coleman's 1977-78 team holds the school record for most victories with 37.

Coleman was replaced by Barbara Swanner midway through the 1979 season and Swanner coached the Tigers for the next three years. She led LSU to an overall mark of 57-50 before ending her coaching career at the conclusion of the 1981-82 season.

Hall of Famer Sue Gunter joined the Tigers for the 1982-83 season. In 22 seasons with the Tigers, Gunter led the Tigers to 442 victories and guided her teams to 14 NCAA Tournament appearances, the 1991 and 2003 SEC Tournament titles and the 2004 NCAA Final Four. Gunter, who retired following the 2003-04 season, is a member of both the Naismith Hall of Fame and the Women's Basketball Hall of Fame. She added another accolade to her historic career in the spring of 2010 when she was inducted into the LSU Athletic Hall of Fame. Gunter was a true pioneer for the sport and her legacy at LSU remains the foundation of the program.

Pokey Chatman replaced Gunter after serving as the acting head coach for 20 games in 2003-04, guiding the team to a 15-5 mark, including the program's first trip to the NCAA Final Four. She finished her career during the 2006-07 season with a 90-14 record. Bob Starkey served as acting head coach during the 2007 NCAA Tournament. Starkey led the Tigers to a fourth straight Final Four appearance as he produced a 4-1 record, including a 73-50 upset of Connecticut in the Fresno Regional Final.

Van Chancellor was named the sixth head coach in LSU history on April 11, 2007. Chancellor, a Naismith Hall of Famer and the all-time winningest head coach in WNBA history, led the Tigers to a Final Four and three straight NCAA Tournament appearances. Chancellor coached for four seasons and stepped down following the 2010-11 season. He finished his LSU tenure with a 90-40 record.

In April 2011, LSU Vice Chancellor and Director of Athletics Joe Alleva named Nikki Fargas (formerly Nikki Caldwell) the seventh head coach in the history of the program.

Fargas stepped to the podium on April 4 and delivered the following message: "The first thing I thought about was Sue Gunter. She came to mind right off the bat. Having played in the SEC and having played against those old Sue Gunter teams back in the 90s, I was just moved because she has meant so much to a lot of us, our career, and our choices to go into college coaching because of what she has done for women's basketball. I can't tell you enough how honored I am to be a part of such a great legacy."

Fargas brought a winning attitude back to the program as she has guided LSU to five seasons of 20-plus victories, six NCAA Tournament appearances and back-to-back NCAA Sweet 16 trips in 2013 and 2014.

The decade of the 1970s saw the start of women's basketball as a varsity sport at LSU. The Tigers played their first game in November of 1975, losing to Whitworth, 64-58. LSU's first win came a week later with a 75-62 victory over Southwestern Louisiana. The win was the first of 17 for the Tigers in their inaugural season as LSU posted a first-year mark of 17-14.

A year later, LSU, behind the play of a couple of Australians in Maree Jackson and Julie Gross, was playing for the AIAW National title. After going unrecognized for much of the year, LSU finally began to gain some respect with wins over three ranked teams in February. The Tigers entered the AIAW State Tournament on a roll, however, LSU lost to Louisiana Tech and Northwestern State, but they were still able to advance to the AIAW Regional Tournament. At Regionals, the Tigers beat Texas, Stephen F. Austin and Baylor to advance to the AIAW National Tournament.

By this time the Tigers were ranked No. 11 in the nation and after wins over Western Washington and Baylor, LSU was in the Final Four. LSU knocked off second-ranked Immaculata, 74-68, in the semifinals and then fell to top-ranked Delta State, 68-55, in the national title game. LSU finished with a 29-8 overall mark, the second-most victories recorded in school history in a single year at the time.

In 1977-78, the Tigers achieved their first No. 1 ranking as LSU spent most of January and February atop the Associated Press poll, after having started the year ranked No. 2 in the nation. The Tigers stayed there until Feb. 15 when Tennessee moved ahead of LSU. Despite being ranked No. 2 in the nation, LSU couldn't advance out of the Regionals as the Sue Gunter-coached Stephen F. Austin Lady Jacks eliminated the Tigers in the semifinals. LSU still won 37 games, which remains the school record for victories in a season.

LSU closed out the decade of the 1970s with a coaching change as Jinks Coleman stepped down after 15 games in the 1978-79 season. With an 8-7 mark, Coleman was replaced by Barbara Swanner, who guided LSU to a 5-5 mark over the final 10 games of the year. LSU finished with a 13-12 record.

The decade of the 80s saw LSU establish itself as one of the top programs in the country.

A year later, Joyce Walker came to Baton Rouge and put women's basketball at LSU back on the map. Walker, who was way ahead of her time, could do it all. In her first year with the Tigers she averaged 20.7 points a contest and led the Tigers to a 17-15 mark.

A year later, the NCAA became the governing body of women's athletics and the NCAA Tournament was started. The Tigers didn't make the NCAA Tournament in 1982, but still posted an 18-13 overall mark as Walker averaged 24.9 points a contest. That season was Swanner's last year as head coach of the Tigers.

The 1982-83 season was the first for the Tigers under Sue Gunter, who came to LSU from Stephen F. Austin in Nacogdoches, Texas. In her first year with LSU, Gunter guided the Tigers to a 20-7 mark and a tie for first place in the Western Division of the SEC.

Walker's last year with LSU in 1983-84 marked the Tigers' first-ever appearance in the NCAA Tournament. LSU went 23-7 and reached the Sweet 16 at the NCAA Tournament before falling to Louisiana Tech.

In 1984-85, the Tigers claimed the National Women's Invitational Tournament (NWIT) title with a 74-54 win over Florida in the championship game.

LSU's best season since 1977 occurred in 1985-86 as the Tigers climbed all the way to No. 8 in the nation and reached the Elite Eight at the NCAA Tournament before falling to Tennessee in the final seconds, 67-65.

Another 20-win season followed in 1986-87 as the Tigers spent most of the year ranked in the top 10. However, the Tigers lost their last three games, including a 70-56 setback to Southern Illinois in the second round of the NCAA Tournament.

The 1987-88 season saw the arrival of Dana "Pokey" Chatman, the best point guard in school history. Chatman helped guide the Tigers to an 18-11 mark and another NCAA Tournament appearance. LSU closed out the 1980s with its fifth NCAA Tournament appearance as LSU reached the Sweet 16 before falling to Louisiana Tech.

THE 1990S

The decade of the 1990s was one of ups and downs for the Tigers. LSU opened the decade with a 21-9 overall mark and its fifth NCAA Tournament appearance.

A year later, the Pokey Chatman era came to an end as the Tigers posted a 24-7 overall mark, won the school's first SEC Tournament title and were seeded No. 2 in the Midwest Region of the NCAA Tournament.

The 1991-92 season started the Cornelia Gayden era, but it was also the beginning of a stretch that saw the Tigers go five years without an appearance in the NCAA Tournament. LSU posted a 16-13 overall mark, but five straight losses in mid-February kept the Tigers home in March.

A year later in 1992-93, the Tigers had their first-ever losing record as LSU went 9-18 and was winless in the SEC for the first time. Things weren't much better in 1993-94 as LSU went 11-16 overall and tied for 10th in the SEC.

One of the bright spots in 1994-95 was Sue Gunter's 500th career victory on the same night Gayden set an NCAA record with 12 3-point goals in a 92-62 win over Jackson State on Feb. 9 in Baton Rouge. LSU suffered through its worst record ever that year as the Tigers posted a 7-20 mark.

Despite the losing record the year prior, LSU signed one of the nation's best recruiting classes for the 1995-96 season and the results were immediate. LSU had the biggest turnaround in SEC history as the Tigers went from 7-20 in 1994-95 to 21-11 in 1995-96. Junior college transfers Elaine Powell and Pietra Gay help lead LSU to a win over second-ranked Georgia in the SEC Tournament as the Tigers appeared to be headed for its first NCAA Tournament appearance in five years, but was denied. The Tigers settled for the NWIT, of the where they placed third out of eight teams.

The following year, LSU posted its best record in the 90s as they went 25-5 overall, won nine SEC games and reached the Sweet 16 for the first time since 1989. In 1997-98, the Tigers, in what was supposed to be a rebuilding year, posted a 19-13 overall mark and reached the semifinals of the Women's NIT.

In 1998-99 the Tigers, behind the play of senior point guard Latasha Dorsey, the only senior on the team, reached the Sweet 16 for the second time in three years and finished second in the SEC with a school-record 10 league wins. LSU's 22-8 overall mark in 1998-99 was LSU's fourth 20-win season of the 1990s.

THE 2000S

The Tigers rolled into the new millennium much like the way they ended the old one. In 1999-2000, LSU was 25-7 overall and 11-3 in the SEC, the best record for the program since 1996-97. The 11-3 conference mark was at the time, the best in school history. LSU rode that success all the way to the program's second Elite Eight appearance in the NCAA Tournament, falling to Connecticut in the regional final.

Another 20-win season greeted the Tigers in 2000-01, compiling a 20-11 mark, including the fifth straight winning conference record at 8-6.

The 2001-02 season could have been one finest in recent history. Gunter's group of just six healthy players collected 18 victories, including a trip to the SEC Tournament Championship game and a fourth straight trip to the NCAA Tournament.

Building on the success of the previous two seasons, the 2002-03 team went even further, ending the season with a 30-4 record, winning the SEC Tournament title, advancing to the NCAA Elite Eight and finishing the season ranked No. 3 in the national rankings. The SEC Tournament title was the second in program history and the first since 1991.

It was in 2003-04 that the much eluded goal of the Tigers was reached, advancing to the Final Four. The 2003-04 team posted at 27-8 record and steamed through the NCAA Tournament on its way to New Orleans and the Final Four. Despite the success, the 2003-04 season was full of adversity. Hall of Fame head coach Sue Gunter missed most of the season due to illness and ultimately retired following the season. Gunter was replaced during the season and on a full-time basis with former All-American guard Pokey Chatman.

The next season, in her first full year, Chatman, again guided the Tigers to success. In 2004-05, LSU posted a 33-3 overall record, was ranked No. 1 in the nation for 11 weeks, won the program's first SEC regular season title with a perfect 14-0 mark, and advanced to the NCAA Final Four in Indianapolis. Chatman and guard Seimone Augustus earned numerous national honors, including sweeping the National Coach and Player of the Year honors.

The Tigers continued their success in 2005-06 with a return to the Final Four and a repeat as SEC regular season champions. LSU posted a 31-4 overall record and a 13-1 league mark. Seimone Augustus completed her collegiate career as the 2006 National Player of the Year. LSU fell to Duke in the national semifinal in Boston, Mass.

The 2006-07 season once again saw the Tigers reach the NCAA Final Four after overcoming some late season adversity. LSU posted a 30-8 overall record and junior center Sylvia Fowles earned Kodak All-American honors. Associate head coach Bob Starkey served as acting head coach during the NCAA Tournament run that saw the Tigers knock off Connecticut, 73-50, in the Fresno Regional Final. LSU took on Rutgers in the national semifinal in Cleveland, Ohio. The Scarlet Knights ended LSU's season by a score of 59-35.

The 2007-08 season saw LSU reach its fifth straight Final Four, becoming only the second program in NCAA women's history to achieve that feat. Connecticut was the other. First-year head coach Van Chancellor came to LSU after a successful career at Ole Miss and the WNBA's Houston Comets. Chancellor was named SEC Coach of the Year as he was a perfect fit for a program as prominent as LSU. The Tigers won the Southeastern Conference regular season championship with a perfect 14-0 record while finishing 31-6 overall. Sylvia Fowles was named to the State Farm All-America Team for the second straight season. LSU suffered a heartbreaking loss to Tennessee in the final seconds of the national semifinal in Tampa, Fla., but another Final Four banner would hang in the Maravich Center rafters.

The 2008-09 season might have been Chancellor's finest coaching job. LSU lost all of its key players from the 2009 Final Four team, but the Tigers fought on winning five SEC games in a row to close the regular season and reach the NCAA Tournament for the 11th consecutive year. Allison Hightower was LSU's leader as she became the first player in school history to lead the team in points (14.9), steals (1.9), assists (3.0) and blocks (1.2) in the same season. Hightower was an honorable mention State Farm All-American and freshman LaSondra Barrett made a significant impact as the 2009 SEC Co-Freshman of the Year. LSU's season came to an end at home in the second round of the NCAA Tournament, losing to eventual Final Four participant Louisville in the Maravich Center.

LSU closed the books on the 2000s as one of the most successful programs in women's college basketball. From 2004-09, LSU won 171 contests and no team had advanced to more Final Fours. In Chancellor's third season during the 2009-10 year, Hightower returned for her senior campaign. It was one of the most productive years by a player in school history. Hightower was named a second-team All-American by the Lowe's Senior CLASS Award and she was a finalist for the Wooden Award and Naismith Trophy. For the second straight season, she recorded honorable mention All-America honors by State Farm.

Her 18.2 points per game average, sparked LSU to a 21-10 overall record and a 9-7 mark in conference play. The Tigers finished with a share of third place in the final SEC standings. LSU earned a tough draw in the NCAA Tournament, faced with the task of defeating Duke on its home floor of Cameron Indoor Stadium. In a place where the Blue Devils rarely lose, LSU gave Duke all it could handle before falling 60-52 in the NCAA Second Round. Hightower closed out her career as the 13th all-time leading scorer in LSU history.

The 2010-11 season would be the last for Chancellor as LSU posted a 19-13 record and an 8-8 mark in SEC play. The Tigers scored a huge upset of No. 9 UCLA in Los Angeles to highlight non-conference play. LSU also held No. 20 Georgia to its lowest point total ever in an SEC game in a 47-41 win on Jan. 30. The Tigers topped Alabama in the SEC Tournament first round before losing to Kentucky, 60-58, in the SEC Tournament quarterfinal. Junior forward LaSondra Barrett was a first-team All-SEC performer and a State Farm Honorable Mention All-American after averaging 12.2 points and a team-high 6.3 rebounds per game. LSU led the SEC in scoring defense for the seventh straight season, allowing only 52.9 points per contest.

Nikki Fargas ushered in a new era of Lady Tiger basketball in 2011-12. Using the motto "it's not an option" to miss the NCAA Tournament, Fargas sparked LSU to a six-game win streak late in the year. Barrett, playing in her final season, lifted the Tigers to an SEC Tournament run that included beating regular season champion Kentucky for the second time. LSU met Tennessee in the SEC Championship Game as Fargas dueled against her mentor Pat Summitt in what would be Summitt's final SEC game. Though the Lady Vols won 70-58, the Tigers made a return to the NCAA Tournament and reached the second round of the event in the Maravich Center.

The following season, LSU recorded 22 wins in Fargas' second year and overcame several key injuries. The Tigers went on a seven-game winning streak late in the season, reached the NCAA Tournament and then its first Sweet 16 since 2008. The team developed the motto "Eight is Enough," and it was said every time they took the floor.

After defeating Green Bay in the NCAA Tournament first round in Baton Rouge, the Tigers left the fans with one of the most spectacular victories in school history.

Playing without its injured leader in Jeanne Kenney, LSU knocked off third-seeded Penn State, 71-66, in the second round. Senior Adrienne Webb, playing in her final home game, poured in a career-high 27 points that ignited a celebration when the final horn sounded.

The 2013-14 season was filled with numerous memorable moments as LSU took on the nation's toughest schedule and fired out to a 17-4 start highlighted by a Barclays Invitational Championship and the program's first victory at Tennessee since the 2007-08 season.

After a six-game losing streak to end the regular season, Fargas and the Tigers regrouped for the NCAA Tournament.

LSU came out clicking on all cylinders and collected a 98-78 win over Georgia Tech during the opening round. The 98 points were a program NCAA Tournament single-game mark.

The Tigers lost All-SEC Freshman Team guard Raigyne Moncrief to injury during the Georgia Tech game, and senior guard Jeanne Kenney was injured in the first half of LSU's NCAA Second Round matchup versus No. 7 West Virginia.

The Tigers dug deep and put together a 20-4 finishing kick over the last five minutes and scored on their final 10 possessions to come away with a 76-67 victory over the Mountaineers.

Danielle Ballard turned in a NCAA Tournament effort for the ages as she racked up 23.3 points and 14.0 rebounds per game over LSU's three postseason games. At the team's end of the year banquet, each student-athlete received a courage award instead of individual accolades.

LSU's AIAW National Runner-up team - 1976-77

The 2014-15 Tigers extended their NCAA Tournament streak to four-straight years under Nikki Fargas after posting a 17-13 regular-season record and a 10-6 record in SEC action. LSU posted wins over ranked foes four times, including consecutive victories over Texas A&M. The Aggies came into the final game of the regular season ranked 12th nationally, and LSU handed Texas A&M an 80-63 loss in the PMAC. The loss dropped the Aggies to 18th nationally, and just five days later in the opening round of the SEC Tournament, the Tigers stunned A&M again, advancing to the second round with a 71-65 victory. Other wins over ranked foes included an 84-79 defeat of 10th-ranked Kentucky and a 71-69 double-overtime win over 15th-ranked Mississippi State.

Despite missing the first 14 games of the season because of a violation of team rules, junior Danielle Ballard earned All-SEC First-Team and All-SEC Defensive Team honors. She led the Tigers in scoring and rebounding with averages of 14.2 points and 7.2 rebounds a game. She also registered eight blocks, 50 assists and 52 steals in just 17 games. Ballard and Raigyne Moncrief each earned one SEC Player of the Week honor, and freshman Jenna Deemer was named to the Miami Holiday All-Tournament Team.

In their fourth-consecutive NCAA Tournament appearance, the Tigers fell to No. 25 USF, 73-64, in the first round at the Sun Dome in Tampa, Fla., despite LSU's backcourt of Ballard, Moncrief and senior DaShawn Harden scoring 46 of LSU's 64 points. Moncrief recorded a double-double in the loss with 13 points and 10 rebounds.

An uncharacteristic stumble for the program in 2015-16, following a rash of injuries that sidelined some of the team's top talent, saw the Tigers turn in a losing record (10-21) for the first time since the 1994-95 season. The Tigers played what was considered one of the toughest schedules in the country in 2015-16, and when that schedule was crafted, it more than likely looked like a challenging, but viable schedule based on the predicted roster for that season. Fast forward through the 2015-16 campaign, and that schedule proved to be daunting for a squad that would ultimately be down to just seven scholarship players for the latter part of the season.

Just months before the season started, the makeup of the team began to change as two key players, All-SEC honoree Danielle

Seimone Augustus helped the program soar to national prominence after being named two-time National Player of the Year and leading the Tigers to three NCAA Final Fours.

Sylvia Fowles went down as the most dominant post player in school history. A two-time State Farm All-American, Fowles was a member of a Final Four team every year of her career.

Allison Hightower, one of the most influential players in school history, perpetuated the LSU NCAA Tournament legacy when she guided the team to appearances in 2009 and 2010.

The 2004 LSU Tigers became the first team in school history to advance to a Final Four.

Hall of Famer Kim Mulkey was named LSU's eighth women's basketball head coach on April 25, 2021, becoming the most accomplished head coaching hire in LSU history.

Ballard and Stephanie Amichia, left the program. Then, four games into the season the roster morphed even more with season-ending injuries to starters junior Raigyne Moncrief and freshman Ayana Mitchell; but even that was not the end of the changes. In December, four walk-ons were added as injuries and illness ultimately left the Tigers with just seven scholarship players for the bulk of their SEC schedule.

The Tigers showed tremendous heart and fight through the adversity. Fargas' squad gave it their all from the tip-off to the final buzzer every game. While LSU had its offensive struggles during the season, the defense remained solid and consistent, particularly during the SEC schedule. Up until the final two games against Florida and South Carolina, the Tigers held each of their league foes below their scoring average, some by as many as 20-plus points below average.

Transfer Alexis Hyder blossomed into one of the top players in the conference, closing the year in the top 10 in scoring and rebounding, and also leading the league in offensive rebounds with 122. One of the most memorable games of the 2015-16 season was LSU's 57-56 win over Fargas' alma mater and eventual Elite Eight participant, 24th-ranked Tennessee, that snapped a six-game losing streak. Hyder hit two clutch free throws with 3.4 seconds remaining in the game to seal the win. At the end of the season, she was named an honorable mention pick to the Associated Press' All-SEC Team, the LSWA Newcomer of the Year, and an All-Louisiana second team honoree.

Junior Rina Hill was the only Lady Tiger to start all 31 games as LSU utilized 10 different starting lineup combinations. Hill was LSU's second-leading scorer in SEC games with an average of 9.4 points in the 16 contests. She scored in double figures in nine of the final 12 games of the season. Over the summer, Hill was invited to participate in a training camp for the Japanese University Team that will compete in the 2017 Summer Universiade in Taipei, Chinese Taipei.

The Tigers were back in the NCAA Tournament in 2016-17, making a turnaround from a 10-21 record to a 20-12 mark in just one season. That turnaround was due in large part to the return of guard Raigyne Moncrief and forward Ayana Mitchell to the lineup. Both missed all but three games in 2015-16 because of injuries that required surgery.

Moncrief became only the second Lady Tiger since 2000 to lead LSU in four major statistical categories. She closed the year as the leader in points (507), rebounds (188), assists (92) and steals (107). Moncrief, who led the SEC and ranked fifth nationally in steals, set a school record with her 107 total steals. She tied the school record with 10 steals against Florida. Moncrief was named SEC Defensive Player of the Year as well as to the league's second team and all-defensive team.

Moncrief was named first-team All-Louisiana and LSWA Player of the Year and Chloe Jackson earned second-team accolades and the LSWA Newcomer of the Year honor.

LSU opened the year at 3-0 before running up against third-ranked UConn at the PMAC. Following that loss, the Tigers won 11 of their next 13 games, including placing second in the prestigious Paradise Jam Tournament. The Tigers were 8-8 in the SEC and were one of eight conference squads to earn bids to the NCAA Tournament. It was the 25th NCAA appearance for LSU and the Tigers were sent on the road to face California in Waco, Texas. LSU fell, 55-52, to Cal despite a double-double by senior Alexis Hyder. As a team, the Tigers closed the year ranked tops in the SEC and fourth nationally in steals with 382 and also ranked in the top 20 nationally in turnover margin, turnovers forced, steals per game and turnovers forced per game.

LSU made its 26th NCAA appearance in 2017-18 with a final record of 19-10 and a tie for fourth place in the SEC at 11-5, the most SEC wins during the Nikki Fargas era. Raigyne (Moncrief) Louis became the only Lady Tiger to score over 1,600 points, grab over 700 rebounds and 250 steals, and dish out over 300 assists in a career.

LSU recorded the No. 1 defense in the SEC in 2018-19 at 56.2 points per game. Ayana Mitchell finished her junior season with a double-double of 13.5 points and 10.5 rebounds per game.

The 2019-20 season proved to be a strange one as LSU was poised to make its 27th appearance in the NCAA Tournament and its seventh in Fargas' tenure. But a pandemic stopped the season on March 13, following the SEC Tournament. The Tigers finished with a 20-10 record.

Senior Ayana Mitchell became the fifth player in school history to record 1,000 career points and 900 career rebounds during the 2019-20 season. Mitchell missed the end of the season with a knee injury, but still earned All-SEC Second Team honors along with starting guard Khayla Pointer. Faustine Aifuwa earned SEC All-Defensive Team honors.

On April 5, 2021, Kim Mulkey was named LSU eighth head women's basketball coach, bringing a Hall of Fame resume to Baton Rouge. On top of winning National Championships as a player, assistant coach and head coach, Coach Mulkey was the fastest coach in DI history - men's or women's to reach 600 victories, needing only 700 games to do so. Coach Mulkey's hire immediately ignited the LSU fanbase, hungry for the Tigers to return to the same success as when Seimone Augustus and Sylvia Fowles played in front of a packed PMAC and brought LSU to five Final Fours.

Augustus, the No. 1 overall pick in 2006 by the Minnesota Lynx, ranked second in the league in scoring with 21.9 points per contest as a rookie that season.

Seimone Augustus, now an assistant coach in Los Angeles, lived up to her billing in the WNBA since being selected as the No. 1 overall pick in 2006 by the Minnesota Lynx. In 2011, Augustus won a WNBA Championship and was named the WNBA Finals MVP. She racked up 22.0 points per game during the Lynx's eight-game championship run that year. Augustus followed that season up by earning All-WNBA First-Team accolades for the first time in her career in 2012. Augustus and the Lynx won a second WNBA championship in 2013, and a third in 2015 and a fourth in 2017, both with fellow LSU teammate Sylvia Fowles. During her 15-year career that spans 391 total games, she has earned All-WNBA honors six times as well as being named a WNBA All-Star in eight seasons. She has started 56 of her 58 career playoff games. Augustus is the WNBA's 10th-leading scorer with 6,005 career regular season points, fourth in field goals made with 2,455, and eighth in field goals attempted with 5,111 following the 2020 season. Her stature is intimidating and her play at center has proven to be one of the dominating forces in the WNBA. Over her 13 seasons, Sylvia Fowles has proven to be a franchise player for both the Chicago Sky and Minnesota Lynx. She earned 2015 WNBA Finals MVP honors after averaging 15.6 points and 9.4 rebounds in five games against Indiana, winning the title with fellow LSU teammate Seimone Augustus. Fowles has captured three WNBA Defensive Player of the Year awards, including her first with the Lynx in 2016. She has earned All-WNBA honors eight times and has played in 387 total career games. She has started all 40 of her career playoff games. In just regular-season games, which spans 347 contests, Fowles became the all-time rebounder during the 2000 season and sits at 3,400 and leads the league with a 9.8 rebounds per game career average. She also carries the best career field goal percentage in the league at 59.3 percent.

THERESA PLAISANCE

Plaisance recently wrapped up her seventh season in the league. She was drafted in the third round of the 2014 Draft by the Tulsa Shock (now Dallas Wings). VAN CHANCELLOR

2004 USA Head Coach

Former LSU coach, Van Chancellor was the head coach of the 2004 United States Olympic team that won the gold medal in Athens. Chancellor posted a 36-0 record as head coach of Team USA in international competition.

SUE GUNTER

1980 USA Head Coach, 1976 Assistant Coach

Sue Gunter's coaching career extended beyond the boundaries of the Southeast with an international resume that laid the groundwork for today's Olympic success story. Gunter was the head coach of the USA National Team in 1976, which set the table for her assistant coaching position under Billie Moore and the 1976 Olympic team. In their first Olympic appearance, the USA brought home the silver medal in Montreal. Gunter was then named head coach of the USA national team in both 1978 and 1980, leading to her being named the head coach of the USA Olympic team in 1980. The 1980 Olympic team included such great players like Denise Curry, Carol Blazekowski, Anne Donovan, Rosie Walker and Lynette Woodard. The USA stormed to a 6-1 record during the qualifying tournament. However, the dream for Team USA's first Olympic gold medal was cut short when President Jimmy Carter ordered a boycott of the 1980 Olympic games in protest of the Soviet Union's invasion of Afghanistan.

OLYMPIC GAMES

How many athletes get to live out their childhood dreams of winning Olympic gold? How many have that opportunity three times? Count LSU's Seimone Augustus and Sylvia Fowles in that elite group. The duo became the first Olympic gold medalists in the history of LSU women's basketball in the 2008 Beijing Olympics. Over the next eight years, Augustus and Fowles added to their collection, earning gold in 2012 in London and again in 2016 in Rio. In Tokyo in 2021, Fowles once again earned a gold medal as Team USA clinched its seventh-straight gold medal.

Augustus and Fowles became the first LSU athletes - past or present - in any sport to claim multiple Olympic gold medals as the U.S. Women's National team put a punctuation mark on its perfect 2012 London run with an 86-50 victory over France in the gold medal contest. From coach Sue Gunter's silver medal at the 1976 Games to coach Van Chancellor's gold medal at the 2004 Games, LSU women's basketball has been associated with eight Olympic medals.

In addition to Augustus and Fowles, there are only 10 other women's basketball players who have accomplished the feat of being named to three or more U.S. Olympic Women's Basketball Teams. LSU and UConn are the only two collegiate women's basketball programs to boast multiple players with three or more Olympic gold medals.

"I had to hold tears back. Rethinking the last two or three years for myself and being back and winning a gold medal, honestly, I had this as my screen saver a year ago before they even announced the team. So, it's a dream come true." - Seimone Augustus; Aug. 11, 2012

USA Basketball's run through the Rio Olympics concluded less than a week following one of the worst flood events that struck Baton Rouge and the surrounding area. More than 20,000 people were reportedly rescued and upwards of 40,000 homes had flooded. Seimone Augustus, a Baton Rouge native, had an emotional press conference following the 2016 Gold Medal Game where she expressed joy in being able to make her friends, family and everyone affected by the devastating August flooding proud. She closed the press conference with, "Baton Rouge, this is for you."

"The experience was awesome, and it was more than I could have ever imagined. When you represent your country at the highest level with USA across your jersey, it is an honor." - Sylvia Fowles; Aug. 23, 2008

"Selling season tickets is important because it shows to people that we are hungry for our women's basketball program to do what it used to do. We're going to sell season tickets even before we start winning. If we can sell season tickets today, I think it sends a message to recruits and it sends a message to people that love LSU that this is going to be good times ahead of us."

- Head Coach Kim Mulkey

HOME DOMINANCE

It has proven to be a difficult task for opposing teams to win in the Maravich Center. Since the 1996-97 season, the Tigers have posted a remarkable home record of 308-70 (.814), an average of 13 victories per year.

In conference games, the Tigers are 134-47 (.741) at home over the past 23 years inside the friendly confines of the Maravich Center.

The Maravich Center concourse features four interactive quadrants: Pete Maravich Pass, Walk of Champions, Heroes Hall and Midway of Memories. Each quadrant includes kiosks with photos of great moments, great athletes and memories of the four sports, women's basketball, men's basketball, volleyball and gymnastics, all which compete in the Maravich Center.

THE PMAC

Over the last 20 seasons, LSU has established the Pete Maravich Assembly Center as one of the toughest road playing sites in not only the SEC but the nation.

Since the 1996-97 season, the Tigers have posted a remarkable home record of 270-55 (.831), an average of 13 victories per year.

Dating back to the 2002-03 season when LSU appeared in the NCAA Elite 8 followed by five consecutive NCAA Final Fours, LSU is an impressive 186-45 (.805) inside the friendly confines of the Maravich Center.

LSU has proven to be tough to beat in SEC play in the venue. In conference games, the Tigers are 113-36 (.758) at home over the past 20 years and an astounding 85-28 (.752) over the past 15 seasons.

LSU has secured a 52-27 mark at home versus Top 25 foes over the last 20 years. The Tigers knocked off a Top 10 opponent (#8 Penn State • 03/26/13 and #7 West Virginia • 03/25/14) during the 2012-13 and 2013-14 seasons to punch their ticket to the NCAA Sweet 16 which enables the PMAC to back up its claim as one of the nation's most-feared road sites.

In Nikki Fargas' first season as head coach in 2011-12, LSU increased attendance by over 1,000 more fans than the previous season. Fargas guided the Tigers to their best home record since the 2008 Final Four season with a 13-4 mark sparked by a flawless 4-0 record against ranked teams during the regular season.

Fargas' squad followed that up with a 15-3 record in 2012-13, a 12-4 mark during the 2013-14 season and an 11-4 showing in 2014-15. In six seasons, Fargas has fueled the Tigers to a 70-25 (.737) mark inside the Maravich Center.

In addition to their success on the court, the Tigers have also played before record crowds.

Over the past 15 seasons, LSU has established 14 of the top 15 crowds in PMAC history, including a record crowd of 15,233 against Tennessee on Feb. 10, 2005. During that span the Tigers have played in front of 10 home crowds of over 10,000 fans.

LSU finished the 2005-06 season ranked 14th in the nation in average home attendance with 6,273 and played in front of five crowds of at least 8,000 people.

In 2004-05, LSU finished 10th in the nation in average home attendance with 7,317 fans per game, by far a record for the Tigers. During that season four crowds of over 10,000 were recorded for games, including the record crowd of 15,233 against Tennessee. LSU ranked third in the SEC and among the top 15 in attendance nationally in 2011-12, averaging 4,315 fans per game and 73,348 total.

LSU rarely gets upset on its home floor. The Tigers are 210-25 (.894) over the last 20 years against unranked teams.

LSU has put together undefeated records at home over non-ranked Opp in 2007-08 (11-0), 2006-07 (11-0), 2005-06 (10-0), 2004-05 (10-0), 2002-03 (8-0), 2001-02 (11-0), 1999-00 (17-0), 1998-99 (11-0) and 1996-97 (11-0).

During the 1999-2000 campaign, the Tigers set a school-record with 17 home victories with their only loss coming at the hands of second-ranked Tennessee.

In 42 years of history at the PMAC, LSU's home court advantage can be compared with the best programs from across the country as the Tigers have won close to 80 percent of their homes games with a 460-129 overall mark. LSU claimed its 400th all-time Maravich Center victory in Fargas' first season with a 53-49 victory over Mississippi State on Feb. 9, 2012. LSU has also put together winning streaks of 43, 26, 24 and 22 games at home. The Tigers also have gone undefeated at home four times: 15-0 in 2005-06, 12-0 in 2004-05, and 14-0 in both 1977-78 and 1985-86.

Built in 1971, the PMAC underwent complete renovations prior to the 2005-06 season that included an updated concourse with new concessions, new seats and a new sound system.

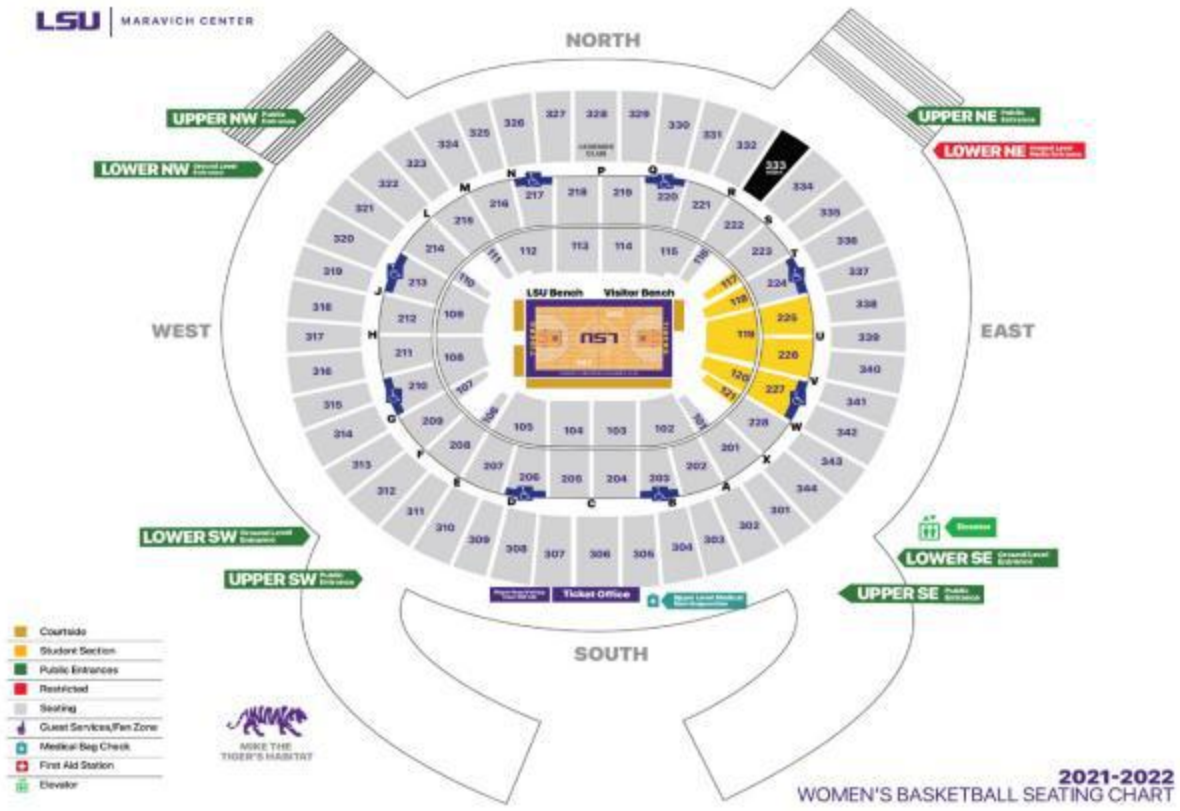
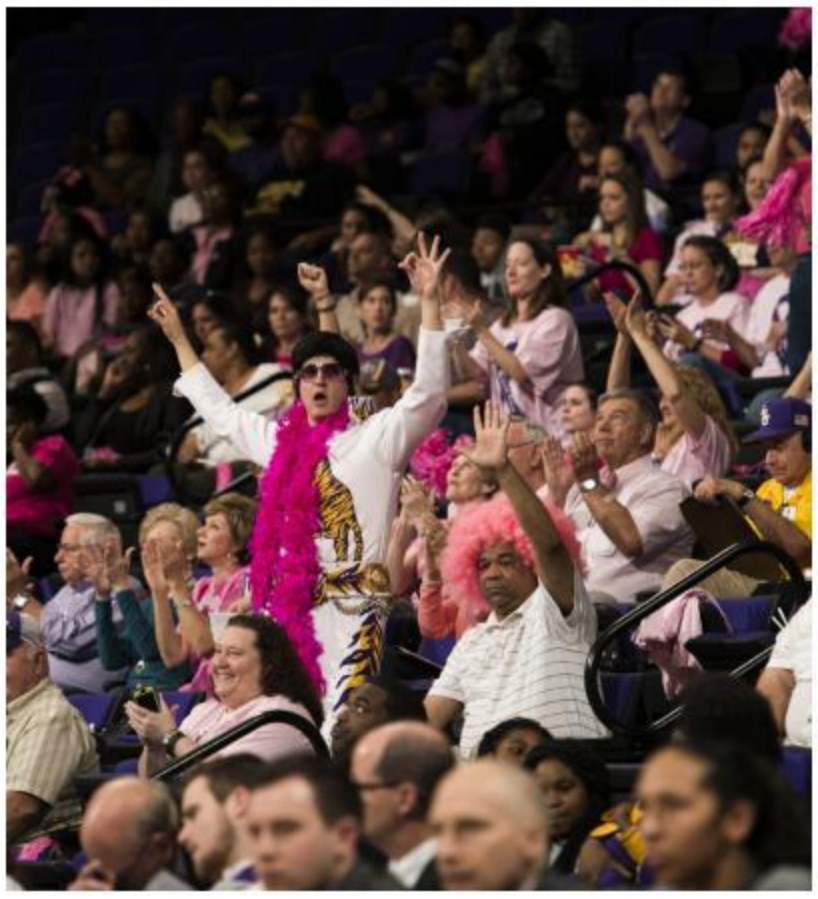
Maravich Center Facts





The concourse features interactive kiosks and displays recognizing the history of LSU basketball, including one exhibit of the late Hall of Fame head coach Sue Gunter. It also houses the plaques of all members of the LSU Athletic Hall of Fame. The capacity is 13,215 following the renovations.

During the summer of 1988, Louisiana Governor Buddy Roemer signed legislation changing the official name of the building to the Pete Maravich Assembly Center in honor of the LSU star who had died tragically earlier that same year.

In addition to the normal basketball-seating configuration, a proscenium stage can be lowered into place at the north end allowing some 4,000 seats for theatrical productions. An additional 1,000 seats can be placed on the floor for graduations, convocations, lectures, concerts or other special events.

The Maravich Center has played host to several famous musical artists over the years, including KISS, Lynyrd Skynyrd, The Rolling Stones, Pink Floyd, Bruce Springsteen & The E Street Band, Def Leppard, Metallica, Guns N' Roses, Garth Brooks and Jimmy Buffett.

Also located in the building is an auxiliary practice gym used for basketball and volleyball practices; home and visitor dressing rooms; coaches dressing rooms, building administration offices; theater dressing rooms; Tiger Athletic Foundation offices; and the "L" Club meeting room with kitchen facilities.

In the summer of 2010, LSU's state-of-the-art basketball practice facility was officially completed and is connected to the PMAC through the Northwest portal. The facility gives both men's and women's teams ample practice room adjacent to their actual game playing floor of the Maravich Center.

The Maravich Center has been the site for both men's and women's NCAA Regional Tournaments, the 1981 SEC Women's Basketball Tournament, the 1988 SEC Men's Basketball Tournament and two SEC Volleyball Tournaments. Since the current NCAA Tournament format began, LSU has played host to the NCAA women's first and second rounds six times since 2004, doing so in 2004, '08, '09, '12, '13 and most recently in 2014. LSU owns a 18-3 record in NCAA Tournament games played in the Maravich Center, including a 8-0 mark in first round contests.
